The opponents of this measure would have you believe that Measure H raises your taxes. It does not. Measure H extends decades-old locally-controlled funding for Santa Rosa’s fire protection, paramedics, rapid 9-1-1 emergency response, disaster preparedness, crime prevention, and police services, with zero change to your taxes.

The opponents of this measure do not rely on Santa Rosa Fire to protect their homes during catastrophic wildfires. They don’t rely on our paramedics to get to their family members in crisis. They don’t rely on our law enforcement to keep their neighborhood safe.

They don’t rely on them, because they don’t live here.

If we were from Petaluma, like those opposing this measure, we might not understand the City’s budget either. But because we live here and because we experienced the wildfires, we know that what they call “pet projects” are actually new fire stations to improve our response in the wildland-urban interface; they’re the rebuilt roads in Coffey Park and Fountaingrove that were destroyed in the Tubbs Fire; they’re the widening and hardening of critical evacuation routes.

It’s easy for the opponents to say that Santa Rosa doesn’t need this critical funding because their safety and the safety of their families aren’t on the line. Ours are.

Santa Rosa’s Firefighters, Police Officers, fire survivors, community members, and elected officials support this measure. We support Measure H because Measure H keeps Santa Rosans safe.

Say ‘Yes’ to a safer Santa Rosa. Say ‘Yes’ to Measure H
