We have all seen aggressive drivers who carelessly:

Express frustration. Drivers climb into the anonymity of an automobile and take out their frustrations on anybody at any time. Their emotions are high and the concern for fellow motorists is low.

Lack attention to driving. Distractions from driving is a major cause of roadway crashes. Motorists are often seen talking on the phone, eating, drinking, primping -- yes, even shaving -- as they drive.

Tailgate. Tailgating creates a serious hazard. It is a major cause of crashes that can result in serious injuries.

Make frequent, unnecessary lane changes. Drivers who whip in and out of lanes merely to advance one car length ahead are a danger to other motorists.

Run red lights. Disregarding traffic controls is a leading cause of urban crashes.

Speed. Going faster than the posted speed limit, being a “road racer,” going too fast for conditions, and weaving in and out of traffic are some examples of speeding.

How are your Street Smarts?

Take a minute to evaluate yourself to see if you may have developed some habits that could be adding to an aggressive driving atmosphere.
